

Universität
Basel

Medizinische Fakultät
Departement Public Health

Pflegewissenschaft
Nursing Science

Veranstungshinweis

Current Policy Directions for Quality Improvement of Long-Term Care in Germany

The Institute of Nursing Science (INS) at the University of Basel kindly invites you to the following lecture and Brown Bag lunch* with Prof. Dr. PH Klaus Wingenfeld (University of Bielefeld)

Date: Tuesday, December 17 2019, 12.00 – 1.00pm

Location: Institute of Nursing Science (INS), Bernoullistrasse 28

Room: UG01

Klaus Wingenfeld, Prof. Dr. PH

Wissenschaftlicher Geschäftsführer, Institut für Pflegewissenschaft, Universität Bielefeld (IPW), Germany

Prof. Dr. PH Klaus Wingenfeld is the scientific director of the Institute of Nursing Science of the University of Bielefeld (IPW) and has a background in sociology and health sciences. His main areas of work include discharge management in hospitals, assessment tools and quality development in inpatient care facilities. He has been heavily involved in the development and testing of quality indicators in Germany in several fields, including in the long-term care sector. During his talk, he will talk about the current policy directions linked to quality improvement in the German long-term care sector.

* You are welcome to bring your lunch!

The event is open to the public. Registration is not required. The event is free of charge.

www.nursing.unibas.ch | nursing@unibas.ch | T +41 (0)61 207 30 40